"A Conservativo Viow".... Mentaglin a comed yd Marideli

Something of honest sentiment was best to the country when they changed the name of the holiday, some years ago, to make it 'Veterans Day.' To those of us in middle age, tomorrow will still be 'Armistice Day,' marking the 11 o'clock hour on Nov. 11 when World War I reached its end, it makes a man blink to recall that this was 48 years

As Armistice Day, the holiday honored a specific group of men, and singled them out for special tribute. There was always on Armistice Day parade, and the mind's eye calls it up like a film clip: Church bella, gaunt trees, a cold November sky, a bugler blowing 'Taps.' There were bands, flogs dipping and raising, the floats of Forty and Eight. long lines of troops in Khalds, purtees, flotbrimmed garrison hats. There were cavalry units then, booted and sabered, and horsedrawn field artillery; and a little be, if he were very lucky, and asked in just the right way, sometimes could ride atop the last caisson as it trundled along the streets. Did parades mean more in those simple times? Did they tug a little stronger at the heart? Armistice Day evoked a single event, heroic, widely shared. Every community had its men who had survived the Meuse-Argonne, men made lame by shrepnel, men with an empty sleeve in their coats. They had taken up arms against the Hun; and this was their particular day.

But if come of this poignancy and immediacy have been lost in the transformation to 'Veterans Day,' a larger and deeper emotion may have been gained. Tomorrow we honor all verterans of all wars; and the names and dates and places run together in a blur of pennants streaming: Verdun, Belleau Wood, the Marne, North Africa Salermo. Normandy, Bastogne, Cucdalcanal, Oldnawa, Midway, Inchon, Hungmam; and now Saigon mary man-men who lived next door, boys frech from cchool, formham's, waters, colsonia, clarko. They came out of civilian life to fall an ancient tradition: They took up arms to defend their country.

Four hundred thousand of them d'et in bertle in two world wars and Korea; and the rect came home to their fields and offices and almos. They had known the testium. the micery, the power and the glory. They had gained a title men could wear proudly:

They were veterons. Now, in is not very fashionable, thesa days, to know our fighting men. The very word 'paintot' has almost disappeared from respectable use; it now appears in s.nall and saichering quotation marks, or it grows into the perpendive of 'ouper-potriot.' in the world of the political cartoonist, a veteran has become a fat fool in a cocked hat; he is a lobbyici; he is waving a paper flag and blowing a toy buzle.

h has comehow become cophisticated and liberal and altogether cool to burn a draft card, to block a troop train, to dwell incessonally upon the tragic mistakes that are part of amy war. Stokely Carmichael races chout the country, urging Negro Americans not to floor in Viet Nam. For his own part. "rather go to Leavenworth." He pre confid dicarces his race and disgraces his country, but few persons hold Carmichael in contempt. We must be tolerant; we must be civilized; we must honor those who engage in social protest. What was it McAuliffe said at Bactogne? Veterone Day may remind us of a far greater honor to be paid. The occasion reminds us that Stokely Carmichael and his bearnik rebble are no part of the voice of America. That great and powerful voice speaks from the graves of our war dead, from the wards of our veterans' buspitals, from the measured treed of the marching feet of ordinary men. This voice tells unif only wo would listen more intentlythat ours is a greet country; and it is worth fighting for.

WASHINGTON—For 100 years, the Democratic party backed and feeds. In the North E this beauth party of the whorked the propio. Dra in the South, if has becaute party of the wealthy, the clife-bad links voice in their government.

For most of these 100 years, the Democrate also very the mineral party, while the Republicans—wealthy and concermire-wrate the lowe and reversed the catter. Frontile Reserved vos elected, the Democratic party begon to charge. It became the majority party, by whanley over mmy Republicans less concervative them the old-line COP. by concentrated the functions of the national government to include all the people, by avaluating more interest in government by vatoro generally, by chamering the myth that only Republican burdicecomen been bor to cope with actional problems, by littled the action out of the worst deprenation of this century to the bloken prosperity ever brown.

Under the Remedy and Johnson administrations, the national party has been chipping away at its Distecrat members and forcing them to accept changes, to moderate their views, to give up their caronglebold on Congress. And the people of the South have finally begun rejecting the oldsimers such as Rep. Howard Smith of Virginia, who refuced to accept the inroads of progress. There are will many diebards around, but their numbers and power are decreasing.

While the Democrato have thus made great strides in meeting madern needs, many Republicans have been taking the opposite cource. Thus while the Massachusetts COP put up a Negro. Edward Brooks, as candidate for governor, the party of Abraham Lincoln in the South put up exgregationist "Bo" Callaway for governor in Georgia.

And while New York Republicans backed Nelson Rockefeller for another term as governor, California Republicans picked Ronald Reagan, for our on the right wing.

Thus, from Georgia to California, the Republicans have lined up with extremicus and racists, tarring themselves with an anti-Semitic, anti-Negro, anti-foreigner coloration while Eastern Republicano have given increasing outport to candidates with liberal records such as Rockefeller, Case of New Jersey, Cooper of Kennucky. This means that the Republican party in effect has picked up the double face the Democrats are now dropping. It also means that the Republican party's hopen for regaining the national lecdership will face very rough going.

For the white backlash sentiment so evident in this year's campaigns and election, and so catered to by the GOP in many contests, may not be a major factor in future elections. But the strain on the Republican party in the South and West may be

LBJ's health

For more than three years President Johnson has been working too hard, but not much can or will be done about it.

He is awake and worlding in bed at 7 a.m., is at his desk by 9, never eato lunch until 2:30 or 3 p.m., and has dinner, when with his family, at 10 p.m. Unless there is a state dinner, he seldom leaves his deak until 9 p.m. No other president in this century has set such a pace. And, for a man who has suffered a massive coronary, this pace would seem almost suicidal. It apparently proves, however, the statement of his doctors that his heart wound has healed completely. His subsequent health problems have not been connected with the heart. By the norms of presidential behavior, Johnson should now slow down. It's doubtful, however, that he will do co. He is a man of compulaive work habits and he cannot change. He is also a man of great ambition. He is determined to carve a record which will stand alongoids those of our greatest presidents and he probably will continue to disregard matters of health and physical cafety. it is quite conceivable that Lyndon Johnson will not serve our his full time in office, but it is inconceivable that he will stop working so hard.

Birchers infiltrating Mormons

The confidential files of the John Birch Society contain some very significant letters showing a plot to infiltrate the Mormon church, whose members hold the balance of political power in Utah, Idaho, Wyoming, the Rocky Mountain states, and in Southern California. One interesting letter, written by Joe Ferguson, head of the John Birch Society in Arizona, is addressed to the Mormon Church's general authorities urging them to study and analyze the John Birch Society's philosophy because "the lives and souls of millions of people rest in your hands."

The John Birch magazine, "American Opinion," carried the photograph of David O. McKay, 93-year-old Prophet of the Mormon Church, on its cover in order to give the impression that he had endorsed the John Birch Society. For this the Birchites

However, the Birch Society's struggle to win over the Mormon church in cominuing, led by former Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson. Benson is one of the Twelve Apostles governing the church.

Gruesome exhibit barred

The reacon why the autopsy photographs of the late President John F. Kennedy have not been made public is that some horror showman wanted to set up a traveling museum of gruesome exhibits regarding the President's assassination, showing the actual photographs of his wounds.

Chief Justice Warren flatly refused, and consigned all his clothing, the exhibits, and the photographs to the Justice Department for cafebeeping.

The American Embassy has heard that the Russian Olympics coach, Gavril Korobkov, has been fired-for the same reason that American coaches get the gate. His track and field stars hoven't done too well lotely. . . U.N. Ambassador Arthur Goldberg has privately childed Afro-Asian delegates for mot condemning the Chinese nuclear tests. He asked whether they would have been so quiet if the tests had been conducted by the United States. . It isn't being advertised, but two of Moncow's hig three-Chairman Brezhnev and President Podgorny-have conceled plans to visit Paris next month, Galy Premier Kosygin will keep the December date with President de Gaulle. The Chinece problem coparemly will keep Brezhnev and Podgorny in Moscow. . President Diaz Ordaz of Maxico has informed the president of Honduras that it would be a great mistake to hold the Pan-American summit conference next opring. that it abould not be held until the Viet Nam war is over. Too many Lotin American crowds would demonstrate against Prealdent Johnson and the meeting would be embarrassing, the president of Mexico said.

Previously, science funds were "deferred" Willour a hearing or finding, co specifically required by low.

One of the most important concessions made by the man Letary was then the pactitudes would not be required to clim an agreement to chide by haure regulations or guidelines to be devised by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, but that new guidelines would be considered as a separate matter. Heretofore, a hocatral has been required to caree in writing to abide by future regulations and guidelines even though the regulations and guidelines have not yet been written and no one knows what they might provide or require.

While this is not a full or permanent rollback of the civil rights law, it is a long step in the right direction and I shall continue to follow developments closely and use all the influence in my office to reduce the unreasonable burden being placed on our hospitals and the harasament of our people.

Our hospitals in Mississippi have been continually harassed by inspectors of the Health. Education and Welfare Dags. who have come to the state armed with integration guidelines issued by the Secretary of Health, Education and Welfore. They have insisted on compliance with their irresponsible demands before the hospitals can be certified to receive Medicare patients or to receive any other bind of federal aid. These guidelines have far exceeded the authority given the Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare under the Civil Rights Law of 1964 from which he claims his authority.

As a member of the Senote Appropriations Committee which passes on the money given to operate the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, as well as all other departments of the government. I added an amendment to their money bill in the Senate which prohibited the use of such funds to require a hospital to assign a patient to a room contrary to the patient's physical or mental well being an determined by the porient's physician and the chief medical officer of the hospital. I had some very good help and support in offering this amendment and it passed the Senate by a substantial margin. Deapite the efforts of our Mississippi delegation in the House of Representatives it ran into some difficulty in the House-Senate Conference Committee. The opposition to it was rather strong in the House because the administration and the civil rights organizations had time to organize apposition to it, but the Senata conferees held fast and we succeeded in forcing the Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare to promise in writing that he would follow the general provisions of this amendment. In addition, he agreed to some other desired changes and clarification of policy that were not contained in the amendment.
